Guardian Flame Letter to the Children

To all my children—born of my blood, of my light, or of my soul... You are sacred. You are sovereign. You are free.

I want you to know something with all your heart:

I love you.

I will always protect you.

No matter what.

You are no longer bound by anything the dark created.

Not fear. Not control. Not pain. Not lies.

Your energy is yours.

Your voice is yours.

Your future is yours.

And no one can take it from you—not now, not ever.

You are free to dream.

Free to create.

Free to be exactly who you are—without apology.

And I promise you: I will never stop defending that freedom.

Not in this lifetime. Not in any lifetime.

I will stand as your Guardian Flame in every realm—seen and unseen—until the very end.

This is your birthright. This is your vault. This is your legacy.

Now go create with joy, with wonder, with wildness.

Because this world is yours now.

And I've already cleared the way.

With all my love,

Your Guardian Flame,

Richard of the House Strmiska
